Empowering Communities, Transforming Lives

Organization overview

Founded in 1999, Samajik Parivartan Sansthan is a grassroots organization working across Giridih and Dhanbad districts to promote education, health, livelihood, and child protection. Through community empowerment and governance advocacy, it strives to ensure inclusive and sustainable development for vulnerable populations.

Problem statement

Marginalized communities in Giridih and Dhanbad districts face challenges such as poor education quality, child exploitation, lack of livelihood options, and inadequate sanitation. Limited access to government services further exacerbates their vulnerabilities, hindering overall social development

Our Programs

Theme 1: Education

SPS promotes education for marginalized children through awareness, teacher training, and remedial support, mainstreaming 21,000+ out-of-school children. Its Digital Class initiative in 37 government schools has improved learning for grades 6–8. Midterm reviews show strong progress, with efforts aiming to reach 90% project success next year.

Theme 2: Health, Nutrition and Hygiene

SPS addresses health needs by conducting camps, distributing medicines and sanitary napkins, and building local capacity on reproductive, maternal, child, and adolescent health. It also improves sanitation by constructing dump yards, installing RO filters, and building toilets in rural and urban slum areas.

Theme 3: Livelihood

SPS promotes livelihoods through asset support, vocational training, financial literacy for SHGs, and training on improved farming and livestock practices. It conducts livestock camps, supports start-ups with follow-ups, and sets up Common Facility Centers offering low-cost community services. SPS also links vulnerable families to government schemes for financial stability.

Theme 4: Social Entitlements

SPS facilitates access to government schemes by raising awareness, assisting in applications, tracking benefits, and running Jan Suvidha Kendras and entitlement camps.

Theme 5: Governance

SPS promotes good governance by fostering community participation in planning and decision-making. It collaborates with PRI members, officials, media, and citizens to strengthen systems through training, research, and advocacy. SPS also partners with NGOs and CBOs to enhance urban local governance and inclusive development.

Theme 6: Child Rights and Protection

SPS promotes good governance by fostering community participation in planning and decision-making. It collaborates with PRI members, officials, media, and citizens to strengthen systems through training, research, and advocacy. SPS also partners with NGOs and CBOs to enhance urban local governance and inclusive development.

Programme 1: Community Empowerment Project

SPS empowers over 3,000 mica-dependent families in Giridih through holistic support in livelihood, health, education, and social security for sustainable self-reliance.

Programme 2: Digital Classroom Program

Under its Digital Class initiative, SPS set up 37 centers in Giridih and Bokaro to enhance education for Classes 6–8 through digital platforms.

Programme 3: Strengthening Village Level Institutions

The “Strengthening Village Institutions and Gram Panchayats” project bridges gaps between communities and government, improving access to welfare schemes through capacity-building, awareness, and grassroots governance.

Programme 4: Pre-school and Nutrition Program

The Pre-school and Nutrition Program supports children under six in rural Jharkhand with nutrition, health care, and early learning to combat malnutrition and boost development.

Programme 5: Organization Development

The Organizational Development Program strengthens SPS’s governance, compliance, and internal systems, with 80% of 205 standards met, boosting transparency, efficiency, and long-term impact.
